

This house was carefully designed in a traditional style to sit comfortably in the large rear garden of an old Vicarage in Walesby.

Roof lines had to be kept low and the existing landscape features retained, but the final accommodation achieved is quite substantial at 3,500 sqft.

Our client was a director at a medium sized building contractor who managed the site and employed good quality materials and tradesmen through out.

